We are in possession of circumstantial evidence which we will furnish to any parties who are anxious to bring the guilty parties to justice. ROBERTS &amp; Co., TITUSVILLE, Sept. 3, 1872.

PRODUCERS' COUNCIL.

Fourth Day—Morning Session.

The Producers' Council met at half-past nine o'clock yesterday morning, being the fourth day of the session since the election of the delegates. The President, Captain William H. Hason, was in the chair.

The roll was called by the Secretary and twenty-seven delegates replied to their names.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved.

The Chair said that the Fourth District had not yet been represented but they would hold a meeting to-day and would probably send delegates.

Mr. McMullen made a short report as chairman of the Committee on Statistics, and said there had not yet been time to draw up any definite report. On motion the report was accepted and referred back to the committee.

Mr. E. G. Patterson reported as chairman of Committee on Patents, that the only patent he knew of were the casing and torpedo patents. The casing patent was being litigated at present but he had not yet met the committee.

Mr. A. H. Bronson made a verbal report as Chairman of the Committee on Refining, which was, by request, withheld from publication.

Mr. Patterson said that he hoped if the refiners shut down for thirty days it would meet the hearty approval of the producers.

A communication was read from the refiners of Titusville, which was ordered on file.

Mr. C. W. C. Phillips, Chairman of the Committee on Permanent Organization, then made a report. Before reading it he said that the report was not perfect, but it was submitted simply for discussion.

The business of producing oil had always been a species of gambling. Now, go into it now on borrowed capital in the hope of a lucky strike, but if they are unsuccessful their creditors have to be the losers. For this reason most of the small producers are in a bad way and must get the money for their oil as fast as they can out of the ground. From thence the oil passes to the refiner, and at once into the hands of the exporter.

The refiners have overdone their business, and compete against each other, they also have overdone the job by talking themselves to death. Part of the operation was performed here.

As the Thanksgiving festival draws nigh the turkeys increase in obesity; but little do they think of how they are soon to be gobbled up.

A sermon in English was preached by Rev. Dr. Eger in the Franklin-street Synagogue yesterday. Today is the Day of Atonement, and services appropriate to the anniversary will be held.

Drum Major W. W. Chase, of the City Corps, drums corps has made his little band of the best to be found anywhere. The drum corps attracted much attention during the parade and won admiration from every body. It was one of the most interesting features of the display.

On Thursday evening the Col. Drake's Hose Company, accompanied by the City Corps Band, waited on Col. E. A. L. Roberts and presented him with a handsome armband as a token of their regard for the aid which that gentleman had rendered the organization. Col. Roberts accepted the gift in an appropriate speech, and concluded by presenting the company with his check for $200.

Producers' Deliberations.

The Council of Producers have now been sitting for four days in Old City, and the result of their deliberations is watched with breathless anxiety by every producer in the region. It will be noticed in the report of the proceedings of yesterday published in another column, that the entire body of the council have unanimously recommended the production in future to be controlled by the suspension of drilling at stated periods, the particulars of which are embraced in the following resolution. This idea is conceived in wisdom, and after the bitter experience of the past it will unquestionably meet the hearty approval of the great body of producers.

This, however, is but one step towards the betterment of the oil business. The next question, and by far the most knotty problem to solve is, what moneyed inducement can be offered to each individual member of the Producers' organization, to abide by the rules of self organization, over those who remain outside. It is a conceded fact and a truism that without this moneyed advantage the body must eventually fall to pieces by its own weight. The reason of this is self-evident, as the price of oil is determined by the market, and a very few outside producers are capable of reducing the price by producing an excess of supply and throwing it upon the market. The Council have given, and are now giving, their most serious consideration with every probability of eventually being able to meet the difficulty. The selection of the best and the most acceptable plan is simply a question of time, and the Council appear to be determined that it shall not be decided upon in haste, or even recommended, without their most mature reflection and deliberation.

The Concert Last Evening.

The Musical Convention closed their session in this city last evening with a concert at the Opera House. The attendance was not large, but the audience was composed of the very first of our city's best society.

Every piece was good—so good, in fact, that it would be difficult to decide which particular piece was the best; and the concert certainly was worthy of a better attendance than there was, for its seldom one has the pleasure, outside of the larger cities, to listen to such masterly exhibitions of skill as that shown last evening.

Almost all of the pieces were loudly enjoyed, and several times the singers were called out a second time. Miss Bettie's appearance was greeted by loud applause, and the delightful manner in which she rendered her part of "The Siren" and "The Song of the Sea" attracted the highest admiration of the most enthusiastic listeners. The press of matter in our columns prevents us making extended comments. Below we give the programme:
